

Luke Demi

On this given assignment, I believe that all of my code is functioning properly according to the given requirements. None of the code I have written has led to incorrect outputs. The only thing that might be slightly different is that my hash codes for the prev_block are slightly different than yours in the given example output. That is the only part of the code that might be slightly incorrect.